Starry Boxman of Birds Blanks Leafs in Nightcap—Sheedy Out of Danger

By CHARLIE GOOD

There were three painful episodes at Mr. Solman's stadium yesterday afternoon, viz., to wit, and as follows: Toronto lost game No. 1 six to five in ten innings; Toronto lost game No. 2 five to nothing in seven innings, and Clayton Sheedy, right fielder of the Baltimore club, was "beaned" by Owen Carroll.

The first affair was thrown away literally and figuratively. Carroll being wilder than all outdoors, while his team-mates disported themselves like veriest amateurs.

It is a wonder that some of them were not badly disabled, considering the difficulty that they experienced in sidestepping the high and lofties that were carried hither and yon by the somewhat turbulent breeze.

Pop ups and soft spirals that should have been gathered in without any fussing or fuming fell unmolested to terra firma.

Arrant baseballs sailed all over the landscape while the Leafs debated among themselves as to who would attempt to make the capture.

More ordinary aerials went for base hits in the opener than in all the previous games at the stadium this season. Oh, for a Frank O'Rourke. If that veteran had been on the job there would probably have been a different story to tell.

Tough Game To Lose

At that the first game was a tough one to lose. The Leafs spotted the Birds two runs in the first chapter, but not only made up the handicap but went to the front, and going into the eighth looked all over winners, despite Carroll's unsteadiness. The score then was 5 to 3, and the collegian, although making heavy weather, appeared to have recovered a major part of his effectiveness. With one out Scheer got a hit on his pop to short left, only to be forced immediately by Parnham. Carroll then passed Maisel, and Archdeacon raised a fly to right which Layne was slow in starting after and failed to reach, Parnham scoring. Magee was passed, but Monohan fouled out. This made the total 5 to 4. In the ninth the Birds tied it up on Boley's triple with one out and McKee's single.

Won In the Tenth

They won out in the tenth when Carroll issued four walks forcing in the deciding tally. One of his passes was an intentional one to Monohan. The final session was almost a repetition of the first, when Carroll was so erratic that Manager Howley would have been justified in derricking him right then and there. But Carroll has been in predicaments of this sort before and pulled himself out successfully, and probably that thought influenced the local leader. Three scratchy hits and as many walks gave the Birds two runs, the bases being filled when the final out was recorded. After that Carroll worked along fairly well until he was unfortunate enough to wild pitch Clayton Sheedy on the head. Two hits and a pass followed this incident and a run resulted.

Accident To Sheedy

Sheedy was as much to blame for the accident as anyone. He ducked right into the fast ball, which was the first of the inning, and was struck on the back of the head, the sphere rebounding high in the air. He was knocked out completely and was carried off dead to the world. After he received medical attention he was able to sit up, but his immediate removal to the hospital was ordered. It is not thought that there was any fracture, and it is more than likely that he will be able to leave with the Baltimore club on Wednesday night.

The accident cast an atmosphere of gloom over the park and undoubtedly affected Carroll's work.

Rube Went the Route

Rube Parnham performed for the Birds, and the eccentric one who usually has the greatest trouble in winning from any Toronto team, was very lucky indeed to come out on top. He was touched up freely at all stages and only fine support carried him through, although he yammered and yapped at his pals whenever any play was made that didn't suit him, but they paid little attention to him, evidently being thoroughly acquainted with his peculiarities. The Leafs scored a run in the fourth on Walker's double down the third base line, Layne's single and Heath's out at first which Scheer was lucky to knock down. The Howleyites went in front in the next, shoving over three runs on a walk to Carroll, Gilhooley's double, Mullen's single and another hit by Walker. Schmehl's hit, Scheer's wild throw and O'Neill's smack past third gave the Leafs their fifth and final tally.

After that Parnham struggled along without being scored upon, but he had to have all the breaks imaginable to get by, notably in the ninth when Maisel made a most spectacular stop of Mullen's blazing blow back of third and an equally great throw. Lawry then lined directly at Magee in deep right and Walker smashed a terrific liner to Archdeacon, who was stationed on the edge of the bleacher in left, miles out of his own territory.

Too Much Earnshaw

In the second game the Birds had everything their own way, thanks to the magnificent pitching of Earnshaw who was invincible. He restricted the Leafs to three hits and fanned ten in seven innings, including the side twice. Stewart pitched almost as well but he was unfortunate enough to have Quellich get a homer with one in the first and the game was settled right then and there.

Winners at Balmy Beach Regatta

THE TORONTO CANOE CLUB SENIOR FOUR

This is the crew which won the senior fours event at the postponed Balmy Beach regatta last night. This event was originally carded as for the International Trophy, but the trophy was withdrawn before the race last night. Parkdale Canoe Club four finished second and Balmy Beach third. This four won the senior fours at the T.C.C. and Dominion Day regattas and has yet to be beaten. From LEFT to RIGHT the paddlers are: Hall, Saunders, Boadway and Daly.

Three More Games With Jack Dunn's Fast-Going Birds

One to-day and two to-morrow.

Three wins will give the Leafs the series.

To-day is the 13th, but it cannot be unluckier than the 12th.

Manager Howley better follow the example of the Dodger manager and read the riot act to some of his performers.

Jack Dunn didn't hesitate to say harsh things to his athletes when things were going awry in the first and he fairly "rode" them to victory.

Satterfield did his little chore as a pinch hitter in the second game and got one of the Leafs' three hits.

It was not the Leafs' day; but it seldom is when they play Baltimore.

Prior to yesterday Carroll had beaten the Birds twice and Owner Dunn evidently figured that he could well afford to waste Parnham against the clever collegian.

Gilhooley made a clever catch of a fly from Earnshaw's bat in the last game and followed it with a rank fumble of Maisel's single. Walker hurled the ball home perfectly when it didn't count, but when a good throw meant something his heave was on the ground. That's the way things broke for the Leafs yesterday.

With anything like perfect baseball Baltimore would not have scored more than two runs all day. Carroll forced in three tallies in the first game.

Layne has looked better in the field. He played several balls badly, notably Quellich's home run, which he misjudged and then tried to get with a leaping one-hand stab.

Schmehl failed to show the form expected of him at shortstop and Boley outclassed him on the afternoon. It may be different to-day.

The Leafs were apparently carried away with the importance of the occasion and their over-anxiety made them look bad.

Parnham had nothing that gave Walker any trouble, but it was different with Earnshaw, who fanned the redoubtable slugger twice, throwing him curve balls.

In thirteen games this season the Birds have beaten the Leafs ten times. In other seasons when Dunn has had stronger clubs than he has this season the Leafs have always held their own with the champions.

Archdeacon had much to do with the Birds' victory in the first game. The speed merchant was all over the shop in the field and he had three of the champions' twelve hits, while he scored the winning run.

With Layne in left field, where he belongs, the Leafs could not have got worse than an even break. He is fleeter afoot than Walker, and several of the pop fly hits that meant runs would have been captured.

Quellich, late of Rochester, was secured by Baltimore by the waiver route. He was not good enough for the Colts, but on what he showed yesterday he promises to be a valuable man for the Birds. His homer won the second game. He had four hits all told.

Boxers are All Ready for First Gong

New York, July 13.—(UP). Paul Berlenbach, world's light heavyweight champion, and Jack Delaney, Bridgeport challenger, who are to meet Thursday night at the Brooklyn baseball park in a fifteen round bout for the title, wound up their training today with light workouts.

Medical examiners of the New York boxing commission, who had visited the camps, were to report to the commission that each was in splendid physical condition and within easy reach of the weight. Delaney is a natural 175-pounder, but there had been some speculation that the champion would have difficulty in making the weight.

Berlenbach was a slight favorite in the betting, but there was plenty of money available to back Delaney, offered by those who believe the skill and the sharper punching of Delaney will overcome the strength of the champion.

THE DAILY BOOST

George Earnshaw may not be worth the $150,000 valuation as baseball merchandise that Owner Dunn assesses him at, war tax included, but he pitched like a million dollars and then some in the second game of the double-header. It was his 14th victory of the season and his best performance. His fast ball was a rifle shot through the middle, while his curve ball cut the plate like jagged lightning. On two occasions he fanned the side and all told ten of the Leafs fell victims to his elusive offerings in seven innings. If the game had been over the regulation distance it is more than probable that he would have built up a record for himself. The Leafs' best little hitters, Walker twice, Mullen, Layne and Carlyle, a pinch hitter, succumbed on strikes. Boley's shortstopping was fully up to his standard, and little Fritz Maisel tackled everything that came his way with considerable enthusiasm. Archdeacon covered the outfield like a carpet, playing left, centre and right as the occasion and the hitter demanded, and didn't need the high wind as an alibi. His play maneuver when he stationed himself directly in left field when Walker was in bat and captured the latter's line drive without moving in his tracks was a fine exemplification of the art of playing the batsman. This was in the ninth and virtually saved the game for Baltimore as nothing stood between Walker and a home run but the diminutive speed merchant.

THE DAILY KNOCK

'Twas ever thus; just when we expect great things of the Leafs they throw us down harder than a regiment of McCluskeys. To blame any one individual for the double catastrophe would be unfair but there are many fans who are inclined to single out Manager Howley for censure. They argue that he would have been justified in removing the unsteady but brilliant Carroll from the box immediately after he felled Clayton Sheedy with a wild pitch. Whether this lamentable affair had anything to do with the blow up which marked the 10th when Baltimore scored the winning run without the aid of a hit is hard to say but it is only natural to assume that it had something to do with it. The collegian didn't pitch with the same sangfroid following the occurrence that he did before the accident. If ever a game was thrown away this one was. The Leafs never looked so bad in the field as they did in the opener. Soft flies and pop ups were allowed to fall safe all over the place and it was not to be wondered at that toward the close whenever anything in the shape of an aerial was snared that there was an outburst of applause of the applesauce order. The Leafs shaped up like champions when playing against the tail-enders, but they looked like tail-enders when playing against the champions.

BEACH WAR CANOE CREW DEFEATS P.C.C.

East Enders Down Crack West End Crew—T.C.C. Wins the Fours

The Balmy Beach Canoe Club annual regata, postponed from last Saturday owing to the rough weather, was held on the lake in front of the Beach club-house last night. Beach paddlers won five of the seven events. The meet will be concluded to-night. The Beach boats swept to the front in all but the senior and intermediate fours, which were won by quartets from the Toronto Canoe Club.

The defeat of the Parkdale senior war canoe crew was the outstanding feature. Balmy Beach nosed the hitherto unbeaten P. C. C. outfit out after a desperate race.

One of the features of the night was the performance of Daly's T.C.C. crew in the senior four. The Red-ringers were about the best quartet to race at the east end this year. Results:

Junior singles, half mile—Won by Evans, Balmy Beach; 2, Hevenor, Island A.A.; 3, Punchard, T.C.C. Time, 5.24 2-5.

Senior singles, half mile—Won by Nurse, Balmy Beach; 2, Boadway, T.C.C.; 3, Priestley, P.C.C. Time, 4.38½.

Intermediate fours, half mile—Won by Burry's crew, T.C.C.; 2, Harris' crew, T.C.C.; 3, Porter's crew, Balmy Beach. Time, 3.35½.

Senior tandem, mile—Won by Nurse brothers, Balmy Beach; 2, Saunders brothers, P.C.C.; 3, Boadway and Daly, T.C.C. Time, 4.37½.

Jnnior tandem, half mile—Won by Porter and Wase, Balmy Beach; 2, Douglas and Kitchener, T.C.C.; 3, Lamport and Staines, P. C. C. Time, 4.52.

Senior fours, half mile — Won by Daly's crew, T.C.C.; 2, Priestley's crew, P.C.C.; 3, Nurse's crew, Balmy Beach.

Senior war canoe, half mile — Won by Balmy Beach; 2, Parkale C. C.; 3, Toronto C. C.

Bud Taylor to Meet Rosenberg for Title

Chicago, July 13.—Negotiations for a bantamweight championship bout at Cubs Park in August between title-holding Charlie (Phil) Rosenberg, and Bud Taylor of Terre Haute, Ind., have been completed and the managers expect to be here and sign contracts Friday or Saturday.

The contracts will be for ten rounds to a referee's decision. The fight will be the second involving a title, since the recent revival of legalized boxing in Illinois. The first saw the transfer of the lightweight championship from the veteran Rocky Kansas to Sammy Mandell, ten days ago.

Regina athletes have the walking bug. The latest fad out in the prairie city is trying to break the Regina to Moose Jaw walking record. The distance is 43 miles and the record is 15 hours, set by Jimmie Trifunor and John Patrick, a couple of Regina wrestlers. Patrick lost six pounds on the journey and Trifunor two.

You can't tell me that Toronto is a major league ball town. Look at the attendance at the new Maple Leaf stadium. I'm a red-headed Chinaman if the new stadium is drawing any more than the old Island grounds. What's the matter with the town? There isn't a better ball plant on the circuit and the team has been up with the leaders all season. What more do the fans want to bring them through the turnstiles?

Looks to me as if there is too much free sport in and around Toronto.

With Olga O'Byrne out of the Humber river swim Saturday afternoon the race for the ladies' section is pretty well an open one. There are half a dozen outstanding performers. Mary Carson, Peggy Wood, Molly Bailey, Flora Martin and Lydia Webley all have a good chance to take the R. J. Christie gold medal. Molly Bailey proved by her performances at Saturday's meet that her recent illness has left no evil effects. Peggy Wood likes a distance swim better than a sprint. Mary Carson has to her credit the fastest mile swim by any Canadian girl in 1925. Lydia Webley won the Gap-to-Gap swim and Flora Martin nosed out Ruth Downing in the across-the-Bay event. At that a little 11-year-old—Vivian McCormack—might upset all the dopes.

The Toronto Canoe Club has a unique record this season—not one of their fours—junior, intermediate or senior—has been beaten in an open race this season. The Red Ring crews cleaned up every fours race on the Dominion Day, T. C. C., Balmy Beach and I. A. A. regattas. The senior four would now be holders of the International Trophy—if the Balmy Beach club had left it in competition on the postponed regatta card. T. C. C. boys are doing a lot of wondering at the eleventh hour decision of the Balmy Beach club to withdraw the trophy from the competition.
